Table of Contents

Thomas De Baets & Thade Buchborn
Introduction 7

I. REFLECTION IN MUSIC EDUCATION

Thomas A. Regelski (Finland)
Reflective Music Education as a Helping Profession 15

Rineke Smilde (The Netherlands/Austria)
Reflective Practice at the Heart of Higher Music Education 27

Gerhard Lock (Estonia)
Introduction to a Model of ‘Reflexive Positionality’ 41

Mark Reybrouck (Belgium)
Music Teaching and Learning: Reflecting on the Musical Experience 57

Geert Kelchtermans (Belgium)
Stories Making Sense. Teacher Development from a Narrative-Biographical Perspective 71

II. MUSIC TEACHERS’ REFLECTIONS

Tim Cain (United Kingdom)
Self Study, Action Research and Other Approaches to Teachers’ Practitioner Research in Music Education 87

Anne Niessen (Germany)
Are Music Teachers’ Everyday Reflections Research? Qualitative Findings on Music Teachers and Remarks on Researching Learning 101

Wilfried Aigner (Austria)
Teacher, Coach, Reflective Practitioner or Researcher? Dealing with Role Conflicts in a Practitioner Research Setting 117
Lorraine O'Connell (Ireland)
Action Research in the Music Classroom.
Facilitating Reflection, Collaboration and Dialogue 133

Frances Burgess (United Kingdom)
Sustaining a Musical Self.
Reflections of a Northern Irish Schoolteacher 151

III. PROVOKING REFLECTION

Carmen Carrillo (Spain)
Early Music Teaching Experiences.
The Impact of Teacher Training Programmes 169

Anna Houmann (Sweden)
Reflection in, about and through Creativity:
The Key to the Life World 181

Adri de Vugt (The Netherlands)
Reflection in a Music Teacher Training Programme 197

Natassa Economidou-Stavrou (Cyprus)
Reflections of Pre-Service Generalists and Music Teachers on their First Attempts to Teach Music 211

Brigitte Lion & Christine Stöger (Austria & Germany)
Creating Space for Reflection.
Experiences with the accompagnato Teacher Training Model 227

Thomas De Baets (Belgium)
Improvised Music Instruction 239

The Editors 257
The Authors 258